Answer:

"This is talking about the vertical post and the angular support post. we provided screenshots of the fence drawings for reference so they can see the difference. No.2 is just one singular vertical post that goes in the main long sections of the fence for the farm. No.3 is an angular post that is usually welded together into 1 unit and looks like 3 different posts that becomes one. This part of the fence is mostly used for the support of the corner sections of the fence for best support. ."
