

Call for Expression of Interest (EOI) for a tender Provision of “Framework Contract for Psychosocial Counselling for Employees”

The Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) GmbH provides services in the fields of international cooperation for sustainable development and international education, working around the world to shape a future worth living. The German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ) is GIZ's main commissioning party. As a federal enterprise, GIZ supports the German Government in achieving its objectives in the field of international cooperation for sustainable development. In Iraq, GIZ is currently working in several sectors with app. 75 international and 230 national employees.

The health and safety of its employees is at the core of GIZ's work worldwide. GIZ supports its workforce to stay healthy and to maintain their performance capacity. Health management is part of GIZ's HR policy and reflects GIZ's sense of social responsibility towards its entire workforce. The issue of health management covers both physical and mental health. GIZ provides services to its employees ranging from medical support over security management to psychosocial support. COPE is GIZ's internal unit for psychosocial support in stress, crisis and work-related conflict situations. Based in the headquarters in Eschborn and Bonn, Germany, COPE provides counselling services for all GIZ employees (national and international), including CIM-experts and development workers. If needed, COPE also provides support in cases of referral to external psychosocial services such as coaches, counselling centers, therapists and clinics.

In addition to the direct counselling services in acute situations, COPE also supports the elaboration and implementation of staff-care and self-care within GIZ. In general, staff-care relates to the organizational duty of care, whereas measures that focus on the individual are part of self-care. GIZ follows a concept of shared responsibility, which means that the responsibility for well-being is shared between the company, the leadership and the employee, interlinking staff-care and self-care. Staff-care covers a variety of dimensions, addressing economic (e.g. insurance & CTO regulations), physical, psychological and social well-being as well as safety and security. It is intended to both prevent and mitigate distress as well as enhance resilience in response to stressors, in order to maintain the long-term working capacity of the employees and to protect the staff from risks to physical and psychological well-being.

Following this understanding of staff-care, GIZ in Iraq is committed to recognize stressors and to ensure a safe, secure work environment, where employees feel valued and motivated. By providing psychosocial support to individuals and teams, GIZ Iraq aims at recognizing, preventing, mitigating, and managing stress that may impact staff performance and/or well-being, by that strengthening the resilience of staff.
